

To Our Guests

Commencement is a happy and dignified occasion. It is a meaningful time to recognize the graduates and their families, faculty, staff, and students of Louisiana Tech University. Guests and participants are therefore requested to maintain proper decorum throughout the ceremony by avoiding unnecessary movement in the seating area and by withholding applause until designated times to be indicated during the program.

Following the awarding of degrees, the audience is requested to stand for the benediction and then to be seated until the recessional is completed.

Commencement Speaker

KATIE SAMUELS
President, Louisiana Tech University Foundation

Katie Samuels, who grew up in Alaska but found Louisiana Tech as a high school senior, earned her undergraduate and graduate engineering degrees in 1986 and 1988, respectively.

“Choosing Tech was the biggest decision I had made up to that time,” she said. “It’s still one of the best decisions.”

Samuels began her professional career with Atlantic Richfield in Alaska in 1988. She also worked in Jakarta, Indonesia, in Oxford, England, and in Houston where she held senior roles for Australian petroleum company BHP.

Samuels left the oil industry after 20 years to allow more time to give back directly.

Tech has remained a core philanthropic passion for Samuels, who currently serves as President of the Louisiana Tech University Foundation Board.

As a Tech student, she was a member of numerous student organizations, worked her way through school, and avidly supported the Bulldogs and Lady Techsters.
